DAMAGING FOR DURRANT

His Statement Contradicted by Several Witnesses

IN MANY VITAL PARTICULARS.

The Prisoner's Evidence on Important Points Contradicted by Fellow Students, Church Trustees and Newspaper Men. The Case May Go to the Jury Next Week.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 23.—At the opening of the court yesterday the defense in the trial of Theodore Durrant announced that it had finished its case and the taking of testimony in rebuttal was at once begun by the prosecution. The testimony was the most important given during the trial, as it conflicted with several vital statements made by Durrant while he was on the stand. The testimony of Dr. Gilbert F. Graham, for instance, is considered by many to sweep away Durrant's entire defense. Graham, who is a medical student, and an intimate friend of Durrant, told of a sensational interview that took place between himself and the prisoner at the county jail on April 23.

Dr. Graham was accompanied to the prison by J. S. Dunnigan, a newspaper man who was asked by Durrant to retire after he had been there a few minutes. Graham said that after Dunnigan stepped aside Durrant asked him to see his notes of Dr. Cheney's lecture in order that he might compare them with his own. Graham demurred at first, after which he said that Durrant stated frankly to him that he had no notes of the lecture. He said Durrant told him if he had the notes of the lecture he could easily establish a strong alibi for himself, and urged him to leave the notes with Mrs Durrant in order that she might bring them to him at the prison. Dr Graham said he refused the request and never afterwards visited Durrant at the prison.

While Graham was testifying the jurors watched Durrant closely, but he gave no sign to indicate that he considered the testimony of any importance.

The first witnesses called in rebuttal by the prosecution were the five trustees of Emanuel church. While Durrant was on the stand he testified that he was asked to repair the sun burner at Emanuel church on April 1 by the trustees. The trustees denied that they had asked Durrant to make repairs of any kind at the church during March or April.

Witnesses were next called to disprove Durrant's statement that on the afternoon of April 12 he was at the ferry for the purpose of searching for Blanche Lamont, who, he said, a mysterious stranger had told him would cross the bay that afternoon. C. W. Dodge and C. A. Dukes, medical students, said they say Durrant at the ferry, and the prisoner told them he was waiting for a number of members of the signal corps who were expected from Oakland.

A. A. Hobe, an old schoolmate of Durrant, testified that he saw Durrant at the ferry the same afternoon in company with a young woman who answered the description of Minnie Williams. It is known that Minnie Williams came over from her home in Alameda that afternoon, and the next day her body was found in Emanuel church. It is the theory of the prosecution that instead of being at the ferry to look for Blanche Lamont Durrant was there for the purpose of meeting Miss Williams and luring her to her death.

E. A. Glasser, a student at the medical college, testified that on the afternoon of April 10 Durrant asked him to read aloud his notes of Dr. Cheney's lecture. Glasser said he read his notes to Durrant, who devoted three quarters of an hour to writing in his note book.

Thomas Price, a chemist, called to give expert testimony, was asked practically in what condition a man would be who had breathed illuminating gas for the length of time Durrant said he was engaged at work over the burner. Professor Price said the dark stain on the sole of Rev. Dr. Gibson's shoe, which was found in the pastor's study in the church, was only a grease spot.

Charles Morrison and J. H. Cooper, newspaper reporters, told of an interview they had with Durrant in the city prison on the night of his arrest. Both witnesses testified that Durrant said he had arrived at the church on April 3 between 4 and 4:30 in the afternoon. This testimony conflicts with the statement Durrant now makes, to the effect that he did not arrive at the church until 5 o'clock.

From the present outlook the case will go to the jury not later than the close of next week, after having been on trial since July 22.

Wedding Gifts Returned to England.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Invitations to the wedding of Miss Vanderbilt and the Duke of Marlborough have been issued. The police department will assign fifty officers for duty at the church and half that number at the reception. Several magnificent wedding gifts have been ordered sent back to England on account of the customs duties. Vice Consul Frazer, of the British consulate, has endeavored to have the treasury department permit of the articles being sent to the house and then returned, but without avail. A duty of $90 has been assessed on one handsome diamond brooch, which the duke ordered sent back. A gift from Queen Victoria will meet the same fate.

No Influx of Japanese.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Commissioner General Stump, of the immigration bureau, has made to the secretary of the treasury his report of the results of an investigation recently made by him in person of the allegation that Japanese were being imported into this country under contract, in violation of the alien contract labor law. The commissioner general, after a thorough examination of all the facts, finds there is no reason to fear any influx of Japanese, and the statement that large numbers of them have been improperly admitted to this country is absolutely untrue and without foundation. It is not the policy of the Japanese government to encourage emigration.

Arrested on an Old Charge.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Charles Oberlander, of San Diego, Cal., is in confinement here, having been arrested on a warrant eight years old, charging him with grand larceny. Oberlander, it is alleged, stole clothing from a store here in which he was then employed. He denies the charge. Oberlander came east from southern California several months ago to press a claim for $50,000 against Mexico for having been kidnaped and inhumanly treated. The state department at Washington is said to have demanded that the Mexican government make immediate reparation.

Carnegie Gets a Big Contract.

NEW YORK, Oct 23.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says that the Russian government has just closed a contract with the Carnegie Steel company for a large amount of their patent carbonized reforged armor, the recent tests of which at Washington were so remarkable. The order is for immediate delivery, and will occupy the Homestead works fully five months.

Fell Dead in the Pulpit.

LOCKHART, Tex., Oct. 23.—Rev. A. J. Potter, known throughout Texas as the fighting preacher, on account of the fearlessness of his life on the frontier, dropped dead at this place while preaching. He fell in the pulpit and died instantly.

THE COLT DIVORCE CASE.

The Co-respondent the Divorced Wife of a New York Banker.

PROVIDENCE, Oct. 23.—There have been several new developments in the Colt divorce case. First there came a statement from Mrs. Theodore Colt, mother of Colonel Colt, that the co-respondent in Mrs. Colt's libel for divorce is Mrs. L. B. Becker, the divorced wife of a prominent banker of New York. Mrs. Colt said: "I have known Mrs. Becker very well—too intimately to believe any such stories as have been circulated regarding her relations with Colonel Colt."

Mrs. Becker is 26 years old and the daughter of a minister. Up to a month ago she was registered at a hotel in Warren, R. I., but at the present time she is in Vermont. A year ago this summer she boarded at Bristol, and it was at that time her name was first connected with that of Colonel Colt.

It is stated here that Mr. Van Alen went to Shelburne to obtain the advice of Dr. Seward Webb. Dr. Webb is connected by marriage with Mr. Van Alen, whose wife was one of the Astor family. Colonel Colt is on terms of intimacy with both the Vanderbilts and the Astors, and it is believed here that these two families will endeavor to bring about a settlement.

It is understood that Mr. VanAlen will accept the writ issued for his arrest in the Colt divorce suit and will furnish the bail required. It is said he has engaged for his counsel Colonel Samuel P. Hovey, who as member of the Democratic national committee, helped to secure for him the appointment of minister to Italy, and George R. Rives, of New York.

Churches Roundly Criticised.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—The methods of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, the church as an institution, the clergy as representing the church and all political parties as they exist at the present time, were roundly criticized at the national conference of Christians which opened yesterday in the Christian Federation church. The purpose of the conference, as outlined by the speakers, is the putting down of the liquor traffic, and the churches and W. C. T. U. were roundly scored because of their alleged lack of interest in the present gathering.

A Murderer's Dash for Liberty.

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 23.—Will Myers, the 20-year-old murderer under sentence of death, dashed out of the county jail Monday afternoon. The escape was well planned. His purpose was known a week ago, it is said, to his friends. A woman called to see the prisoner to "talk religion" to him, and he was taken to the sheriff's office. Suddenly he pointed a pistol at the guard and ran out, closely pursued. He eluded his pursuers, however, and is still at large. He killed Forest Crowley, a cotton manufacturer, in August, 1893, the purpose being robbery.

Harry Hayward's Sensational Statement.

MINNEAPOLIS, Oct. 23.—Harry Hayward, the condemned murderer, issues a formal statement to the public of some 4,000 words, explaining the recently exposed plot to break jail. He admits that there was such a plot, and describes it in detail. He maintains stoutly, however, that the whole thing was engineered by Deputy Sheriff Michael Kierce for the purpose of making money and making himself solid with the authorities. He admits that he "bit like a sucker," but shows Kierce up in a very unfavorable light.

Favoring the Nicaragua Canal.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 23.—The Manufacturers' Record sent to every member of congress a letter, asking: "If the special Nicaraguan canal committee makes a favorable report on the feasibility of the canal, will you probably favor government aid looking to its early construction?" Of the 115 replies received ninety-six are strongly in favor of the building of the canal, either by government aid or government ownership, two are opposed and twenty non-committal.

A Mason's Fatal Fall.

LANCASTER, Pa., Oct. 23.—While Daniel Grim, a stone mason, was working upon the chimney of a house being erected at Millersville the scaffolding upon which he stood gave way, and he fell to the cellar, striking the rafters as he whirled through the building. He landed upon a stone, inflicting a terrible gash in his head. He will die. Grim was about 50 years old, and has a family.

Collector Herring Probably Innocent.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Colonel Colquitt, chief of the internal revenue agents, has returned from Scranton, Pa., where he conducted an investigation into the charges preferred against Collector Herring by Mr Burke. He has made a preliminary report to Commissioner Miller, and it is believed Mr. Herring is found "not guilty."

Pugilist Dempsey Dying.

PORTLAND, Ore., Oct. 23.—"Jack" Dempsey is dying. Within the past few days he has been rapidly sinking, and it is announced that his hours are numbered. Dempsey realizes his condition, and says it is due to the blow he received at the hands of Fitzsimmons four years ago, but his friends say that it is consumption.

Only a Dollar in the Bank.

TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 23.—When S. E. Balkwill took formal possession of the closed German-American bank yesterday he found $1.10 in cash on hand, and no account books. The city had over $58,000 on deposit, and it was a demand for this money that caused the bank to fail.

The Drought in Cumberland Valley.

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 23.—A serious drought prevails in the Cumberland valley. Wells have run dry and the pastures are suffering much damage. Farmers are obliged to haul water and drive their cattle a distance of five miles to the nearest streams.

Pushing the Lambert Murder Case.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The United States supreme court yesterday advanced the Lambert (New Jersey) murder case and set its hearing for the first Monday in November.

THEY MAY YET FIGHT.

Another Proposition Made to Corbett and Fitzsimmons.

TO CONTEST FOR A SMALLER PURSE.

Julian Agrees to Have His Man in Hot Springs on Oct 31 to Fight for a $10,000 Prize, and the Question Now Rests with Corbett.

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Oct. 23.—While the big fight has been formally declared off, there is still a deal of hope that Corbett and Fitzsimmons will come together here. The situation is, of course, complicated. So far as its relations with the Florida Athletic club is concerned the heavyweight battle under the original Coleman House agreement, which was subsequently amended at Dallas, is a thing of the past. In its stead has cropped up a proposition to sign new articles to fight for a purse not exceeding $25,000, and have the battle three weeks later than was originally agreed upon.

Corbett, it is known, favors this plan. While Julian insists on the full text and letter of the articles, both as to the date and purses, it is known here that Fitzsimmons will come about and agree to a settlement. It is also thought that he will submit to a reduction of the purse originally hung up by the club, and sign new articles. He recognizes the fact that on the face of recent developments Corbett has escaped himself in the best of it. To overcome this he must and will fight.

Martin Julian has made public the names of six men he had selected from which the referee was to be chosen by Brady. The men named are as follows: John L. Sullivan of Boston, Jake Kilrain of Baltimore, Mike Donovan of New York, Professor John M. Duffy of New Orleans, Yank Sullivan of Syracuse and Lou M. Houseman, sporting editor of the Inter Ocean of Chicago.

The names submitted permit of the selection of but one man on the list—Houseman. Brady would hardly select Sullivan or Kilrain, on the ground that Corbett had whipped them and this might prejudice them. Mike Donovan and Corbett have not spoken since the Sullivan fight. Yank Sullivan and Duffy have been rejected by Corbett already.

Julian's proposition is now to bring his man on to Hot Springs on Oct. 30, put his side bet of $10,000 up in the hands of Houseman, ask Corbett to do the same, and then allow Houseman to appoint an hour and place for the men to meet in private. If this plan fails, as is likely, for Corbett insists on fighting in public unless Fitzsimmons increases his side wager to $20,000, Vending and Stuart think a new deal is sure to ensue.

They say that the men must meet, and that they will come together here. Just on what lines the conclusion is reached is not apparent, but the friends of the club and fighters here are sanguine of a favorable decision on the appeal to the supreme court on Chancellor Leatherman's finding in the habeas corpus case.—Equally sanguine are the members of the citizens' committee that Governor Clarke will abide by the decision of the supreme court and retire gracefully.

At a late hour last night Martin Julian accepted an offer of a $10,000 purse made by the Hot Springs Athletic club for a fight on Oct. 31, under its direction. Julian at once started for Spring Lake to confer with Corbett, who had declared early in the day that he would fight for any kind of a purse, on, before or after Oct. 31.

The Windward's Return to England.

LONDON, Oct 23.—The steam yacht Windward, which conveyed the Jackson-Harmsworth Polar expedition to Franz Josef Land, and which arrived at Bergen on Oct 16, passed Southend yesterday. The documents she brought from the explorer, Jackson, who was left at Franz Josef Land, are sealed up in one of the cabins. After repairing and embarking coal, provisions, etc., the windward will return to Franz Josef Land in order to bring the explorers home. It is understood that Jackson, on the journey north, made some unexpected discoveries.

Over Twelve Thousand Miners Out.

PHILLIPSBURG, Pa., Oct 23.—The miners' strike seems to be growing in extent. William B. Wilson, who has charge of the men, and who is in attendance at the mass meeting of miners at Houtzdale, makes the statement that in all 12,500 men are out, and that in the northern district all the mines except the Horatio are out, and this threatens to suspend work.

North Dakota's Terrific Prairie Fire.

NORMAN, N. D., Oct. 23.—A prairie fire started by William Linse's threshing engine did almost inestimable damage in the reservation south of here. A terrific wind made the fire uncontrollable and hundreds of tons of hay and a large quantity of grain in the stack were destroyed. Reports are meager, but sufficient is known to warrant the statement that it is the worst fire of recent years in this section.

Death of a Noted Italian Author.

ROME, Oct 23.—Signor Bonghi, the celebrated author and member of the chamber of deputies, died yesterday at Torre del Greco, near Naples, where he was sojourning in the hope of benefiting his health. He was 67 years old, and was one of the foremost figures in the public life of Italy.

UNCLE SAM AND SPAIN.

General Foster Gives Good Reason Why Cuba Should be Recognized.

WASHINGTON, Oct 23.—The interest taken in Spain in the policy and purposes of the United States toward Cuba is indicated by the arrival here of Senor Tesifonte Galligeo, a special correspondent of El Heraldo de Madrid, one of the leading papers of the Spanish capital, who comes for the purpose of canvassing the sentiment among the leading public men here. Senor Galligeo sought to secure an interview with President Cleveland and Secretary Olney, but did not succeed, owing to the departure of the former for Atlanta, and the engagements of Mr. Olney.

Later Mr. Galligeo found General John W. Foster, who was United States minister in Spain, the negotiator of the last treaty with Spain and late secretary of state in Mr. Harrison's cabinet. General Foster said that he was out of politics, so that he had no information as to the policy of this government at, but he added:

"It is my personal opinion that if Spain does not succeed in terminating the insurrection by next spring, when the dry season closes, she will be confronted with the grave danger of losing the island of Cuba altogether. By that time it will be difficult, if not impossible, to prevent the recognition by the United States of the Cubans as belligerents, for the American people are being awakened to the fact that Spain proclaimed her recognition of the southern Confederacy within eight weeks from the day Fort Sumpter was fired on."

Another Defense of Garfield.

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 23.—Ex-United States Senator Pailetus Sawyer is in Duluth. An Associated Press reporter asked him his opinion of Senator Sherman's book. In reference to the part referring to ex-President Garfield Mr. Sawyer said: "Senator Sherman is totally in the wrong in saying that ex-President Garfield broke faith with him. I remember the day before Garfield was nominated I lunched with him. At the table I said, 'Mr. Garfield, I am sure you are going to be nominated.' He replied, 'I would rather be shot than be nominated, for I could never persuade Sherman that I kept faith with him.' I went back to the Wisconsin delegation, and we were the first to swing into line for Garfield."

Was Governor of Massachusetts.

NORTH EASTON, Mass., Oct. 23.—Ex-Governor Oliver Ames died at his home here yesterday after a long period of failing health, although death at the last resulted from heart disease. He was 64 years of age. He had become widely known through his connection with large business enterprises, as well as on account of his long and honorable political record in this state. A widow, two sons and four daughters survive.

According to the report the agency will be for the protection of bankers in this country and Europe and will have its principal office in New York, with branches in London, Paris, Vienna, Berlin and other cities.

A Boy Crushed Under the Wreck.

PORTLAND, Ind., Oct 23.—A north bound freight on the Grand Rapids and Indiana road was wrecked at Seventh street crossing, in the southern part of the city, and a dozen or fifteen loaded cars piled in a heap. Evidence of Waller's Innocence.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Mr Ethelbert Woodford, who was in Madagascar at the time the proceedings against ex-Consul Waller was in progress, yesterday presented his version of the case to Acting Secretary Uhl, of the state department. Besides contending, as he did strenuously, that the proceedings of the French authorities were entirely unwarranted, and that the French court was without jurisdiction, Mr. Woodford presented affidavits from numerous persons in Antanarivo to show that Waller had been supplying the Hovas with arms, as was charged.

UNCLE SAM'S ATTITUDE.

England's Radical Action Causes Excitement at Washington.

NOT LIKE THE NICARAGUA AFFAIR.

Great Britain's Attempt to Shift the Issue Not Likely to Secure the Countenance of Our State Department—England Should First Prove Her Claim.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Great Britain's radical steps on the Venezuelan question continue to excite the liveliest interest in official and diplomatic circles. The demand has not yet reached Caracas, as is evident from the fact that Minister Andrade has not yet heard from his government on the subject. President Crespo, who had been absent from the capital on a vacation, has started back for the purpose, it is believed, of filling the four vacancies in his cabinet, which occurred recently. One of these new officers is the minister of foreign affairs. There is no doubt entertained here that Crespo's new minister will share the views of his predecessors, as no minister or administration could survive in Venezuela who did not make resistance to British aggression its foremost policy.

Some of the latest reports from London cause comment and criticism among officials here. One of these statements attributed to Ambassador Bayard the declaration that the Uruan incident is independent of the boundary question, and that the United States can take no part in the former incident. It is pointed out here that the two questions are inseparably connected. The Uruan incident is based on a claim that the Venezuelans arrested Sergeant Beherens, of the British constabulary, on British soil, and that this indignity must be repaired. The Venezuelans claim that it occurred on Venezuelan soil.

The gravity of the case depends on ownership of the territory where the trouble took place. It is therefore considered to involve the entire territorial question, although it is a specific incident arising in the disputed territory. In Venezuela's answer to the first demand for reparation on this incident Minister Rojas said that the reparation was refused because it would be a surrender of all the claims Venezuela ever had made.

As it becomes more and more evident that the British government is disposed to make it appear that the Uruan incident is parallel to the Corinto affair, and may therefore be treated in the same fashion without leading to the intervention of the United States, officials here are pointing out the essential points of difference in the two incidents, and Mr. Bayard will doubtless be instructed to emphasize these in his further representations on the subject to the British foreign office.

In the first case Great Britain demanded and obtained an indemnity from Nicaragua on the ground that her national honor had been outraged by the summary expulsion of her representative, although the latter was only an humble consular agent. The United States consented to stand aloof on this occasion on the theory that a nation had a right to redress an insult.

But, in the Uruan affair it cannot be maintained for an instant that the British government has a right to demand redress for the arrest of its officials unless it shall be first established that they were within British territory, and thus the whole issue is raised as a preliminary. If these British officers were in British territory then Venezuela must apologize and make any further reasonable reparation, but before she can be rightfully expected to do this that fact must be clearly shown and nothing but an agreement, amicable or enforced, upon the exact location of the boundary line can settle this point.

Therefore, the attempt to shift the issue, involving as it does a prejudgment of the rights of Great Britain to territory claimed by Venezuela, is not likely to secure the countenance of our state department.

Train Bandits in Pennsylvania.

POTTSTOWN, Pa., Oct 23.—While William Reiff, conductor of a Reading railroad passenger train, was trying to collect fares from five men who had crowded on the platform between the baggage car and the locomotive tender, they drew revolvers and compelled him to step inside. Reiff then called the members of the crew, but they too were driven into the car. The holdup occurred a short distance north of Phoenixville. The men leaped off the train at Royersford and escaped.

THE CAPITOL SCANDAL.

LEGITIMATE OUTCOME OF REPUBLICAN SPOILS SYSTEM METHODS.

MORE LIKELY TO FOLLOW.

The Mere Increase in State Taxation This Year Nearly Equals the Total State Tax Under Democratic Auspices in 1891, And the Figures that Show It.

There may be those that believe that ex-Assistant-Foreman Patrick Ardiff is the only guilty one in the latest capital scandal, but probably such as do so are of the innocent class and can be counted without resorting to a second hand for fingers to do it with. The public is familiar with the hurried meeting of the capitol commission the other day; the charges preferred against Ardiff, of levying blackmail on his fellow-workmen on the capitol construction, and his dismissal. It may not be so generally understood, but it is a fact that ought to be understood by everybody, that the present Republican management of the Capitol is running things in a way to put a premium on such conduct as Ardiff's, and if his is the only case of guilt it will be a wonder.

The medium-sized fish like Ardiff sees the little fish lined up and asked not "how good workmen are you?" but "what is your pull?" That, in more diplomatic terms, of course, is the question that now settles all appointments or dismissals on the capitol construction. Commissioner Perry, who for 13 years made fitness and not politics the test, has no power any longer in employing or dismissing, and the partisan commissioner that has the power has used it absolutely and solely as a political machine.

A BAD EXAMPLE SET.

The medium-sized fish, therefore, seeing the big fish set the example of disregarding fitness and making politics the test, says to the little fish: "I am more powerful politically than you are; give me part of your salary or you will have to go." That is what Ardiff did, and he got found out only because the man he blackmailed had received notice of dismissal. The impression prevails that the present spoils regime is a sink-hole of such and other scandals, and that when the top is taken off the state will hold its nose for very nausea.

How completely politics, and Platt factional politics at that, is in the saddle is shown in the recent dismissals of employes of Superintendent of Buildings Easton. He claimed that he had to reduce his force, which was probably true, as it had been frightfully padded with useless and incompetent men about the time of the local Republican caucuses, when the Platt-Barnes machine was wanting votes. But instead of dismissing those incompetents Easton dismissed many of the oldest and most faithful men on the rolls, Democrats and Republicans alike, and kept the green-hand Platt heelers on duty. Of the 100 dismissed, the majority were old, tried and faithful men. Nobody doubts that their places will soon be filled by some more Platt-Barnes heelers. Is it any wonder that a premium is put on unfaithfulness and scandal by such proceedings?

SOME MORE TAX FIGURES.

It will be remembered by taxpayers that in 1891, when the State tax-rate was 1.37½, the lowest in 37 years, the governor, comptroller and assembly, by whom the tax-rate is invariably fixed, were all Democrats. It may not be known, however, that the total State tax of that year was only $5,196,666.40, the lowest, with one exception, since the State board of assessors was created in 1859.

Now in 1895 the governor, comptroller, assembly, senate and everything in sight is Republican. The State tax-rate, in which no Democrat had any hand whatever, is 3.24, the highest, with but one exception, since 15 years ago, where also the Republicans controlled in all branches, and the last time they have done so until now. The total State tax, computed on last year's valuations, which are less than those of 1895 will be, is $13,607,617.82, the highest in 20 years, and an increase of $4,457,151.04, or nearly 50 per cent. in one single year of complete Republican control.

This comparison may be of interest to taxpayers:

Total Democratic State tax. 1891, lowest in 30 years	$5,196,666.40
Increase in State tax, 1895 over 1894, result of only one year of complete Republican control.....	4,457,151 04
	$739,512 36

That is to say, the mere increase in the State tax this year comes within $700,000 of equaling the total of the Democratic State tax of 1891. How do taxpayers like the comparison?

THE BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

Senator Brice, Who is Well Informed, says It is Most Encouraging.

In a recent interview with Senator Brice, of Ohio, the following question was asked and answer given.

"What do you think of the business situation, Senator Brice?"

"Business is going to be better and better, right along, without check or stop. That is why the tariff, as we have mildly reformed it, ought to be sustained by the business interests in Ohio and everywhere, that business will no longer be a handle for politics to take hold of. If business is good, the public ought to sustain us, who made the best of what might have been pretty bad. You may depend upon it that business is going to go upward. All enterprises which have reasonable expectations of success can get money. The money market and business are approaching each other for a long and a great campaign. The world at large shows a renewed activity, and wherever the people are developing anything the money market takes an interest in their work."

An Admission of Defeat.

The Republicans are claiming 50,000 majority in New York. This is less than one-third of the majority last year, which was 156,000. An admission that they will lose 106,000 votes is equivalent to a confession of defeat in advance.—Chicago Chronicle.

A PLEASING ASSURANCE.

Local Differences Will Not Affect the State Ticket.

Whatever "combination" may be effected in this city, it will only concern local offices and the administration of local affairs. It should not be allowed to stand in the way of the united support of Democrats of the State ticket and for candidates for the legislature, nor should it be regarded by Democrats "up the State" as a menace to party success.

The Democrats of the State are in an advantageous position this year. Their convention was not dominated by a "boss" and no cut-and-dried ticket was forced upon it. Their candidates were the choice of the convention which was representative of the Democratic voters, and there is no dissatisfaction with the ticket. No matter how Democrats may differ or be divided upon local issues in this city and in Brooklyn, they are united in support of the State ticket and will vote for it. Of that there seems to be no ground for doubt and it should be understood "up the State."

Throughout the State the Democrats have shown an unusual disposition to settle all local differences and to present a united front. This is also largely due to the absence of "bossism." They have been left to agree among themselves. There has been no external force manipulating caucuses, dictating to convention, or forcing candidates who were not the popular choice. A disposition has also been shown to put forward strong candidates who would command confidence outside the party lines, which is a hopeful sign.

On the other hand, the Republicans have felt the hand of the "boss" throughout the State. There has been scarcely a Senate convention and few Assembly district conventions where it has not been a question of Platt's candidate rather than the candidate preferred by freely chosen delegates of the party. This interference has caused division and dissatisfaction in the Republican ranks all over the State. In some places the division is serious, and in a few instances the anti-Platt element has prevailed, but for the most part there is a silent but sullen dissatisfaction. This is likely to tell upon the vote of November 5.

Apart from the substantial union of all Democrats throughout the State and a prevalent dissatisfaction among their opponents, there is the advantage of a distinct issue upon which Democrats are agreed and upon which Republicans differ. The strength of the Democratic party is in the cities and populous towns, and it is the party of local self government, for which these are striving. It has a clear position on the mooted excise question in harmony with its home rule principle, while the Republican party has declared a policy which it dare not advocate in half the State.

The Democrats "up the State" should be assured that the Democrats of New York and Brooklyn are not divided with reference to the party's policy in State affairs, with reference to any declaration of its platform, or with reference to its candidates for State offices. They will support the State ticket unitedly, they will support only Democratic candidates for the Legislature, and if the full strength of the party is brought out in the State it will win, without regard to contests affecting only local offices.—New York Times.

Skirmish Line of 1896.

The contest we are beginning is the preliminary contest for next year's great political battle in the nation. Democratic success this fall in New York will make Democrats everywhere lift up their heads and buckle on their fighting armor. Victory here now will do much to secure victory in the nation. So let us subordinate all selfish or local interests and join each other in restoring to power the party to which we belong and in which we believe.—Ex-Gov. Flower at Syracuse convention.

What Personal Liberty Involves.

Personal liberty is the essence of free government; it resents unreasonable restrictions upon human conduct; it demands respect for reserved rights, which were never surrendered to society; it rejects a censorship of the press; it encourages independence in thought and action; its inspiration is toward a higher and better civilization; its tendency is toward making men self-reliant and indomitable.—Senator Hill on Personal Liberty.

Makes Them Sick.

Some of the zealous G. O. P. organs are positively sick because they cannot successfully lie against the facts and figures which show that the country is constantly growing in prosperity. They would gladly have 70,000,000 people suffer for the coming year in order to help the Republican party in its campaign.—Detroit Free Press.

Judson and the Printers.

The typographical union of Fulton county has paid a very flattering tribute to John R. Judson's candidacy for comptroller. Mr. Judson has been employing printers for some fifteen years, and the printers feel that Mr. Judson has earned a good word from them.—Gloversville Standard (Ind. Rep.).

New York Has Ever Been for Sound Money.

Not only has the New York Democracy for the last 20 years declared itself and thrown its influence for tariff reform, administrative reform and currency reform, but it has never failed to vindicate sound finance.—From Temporary Chairman Perry Belmont's speech at Syracuse convention.

High Character Wanted.

Judge Metcalf, of Canandaigua, who is the Democratic choice for senator in the Ontario district, is a man of such high character that many Republicans may prefer to vote for him rather than for John Raines.—Syracuse Post (Rep.)

John Raines's Hard Fight.

Raines finds that he has a harder fight than he anticipated; and fortunately the chances of his election as senator are daily diminishing.—Buffalo Commercial (Rep.).

Why Warner Smiles.

The Hon. Warner Miller chuckingly notes the agony of the Republican leaders in the big cities trying to explain that, as regards the Sunday laws, to maintain is not to maintain.—New York World.

THE PREACHER AND THE SERPENT

A Snake in the Parsonage that Wesley's Sermon Couldn't Kill.

A Sullivan county clergyman, well known in this city, had a startling experience with a large snake in the parsonage on a recent Sunday. Feeling somewhat indisposed, the dominie was lying upon a couch in his study, on the second floor, when, as he turned his eyes from a copy of Wesley's sermons which he was perusing, a large milk snake met his gaze, rearing its ugly head from the floor only a few feet from the lounge. The good dominie, who has waged many a successful battle with the old figurative serpent, sin, was but little surprised at the literal specimen, and instantly hurled at the intruder the volume of sound Methodist doctrine which he had found so efficacious in previous experiences with the subtle enemy. This time, however, the serpent survived unharmed, but the persevering dominie sprang from his couch and with weapons less spiritual, quickly dispatched the reptile, though not until the entire household, alarmed at the commotion, had appeared on the scene.

Deafness Cannot be Cured

By local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

There is gloom at the headquarters of the Republican County Committee in New York city. The Committee of Fifty, which was expected to furnish the funds for the fusion campaign, has decided that it can get better results by disbursing the money itself and the Republican district leaders who are in politics for revenue are sad indeed.

The reports made at yesterday's meeting of the Democratic County Committee were most encouraging. In every locality Democrats are earnest, enthusiastic and hard at work. The full Democratic vote is registered and there is every reason for believing that the Democracy of Orange county will give a good account of themselves on election day.

AN OPERATION FOR TYPHLITIS.

Fred Parsells Operated on at Thrall Hospital—Doing Well.

Mr. Fred Parsells, an employe of the Middletown Steam Laundry, was taken sick Monday morning, with what proved to be typhlitis, an inflammation of the large intestine in the vicinity of the vermiform appendix.

When the serious nature of his affliction was ascertained, his father was summoned from Wurtsboro, and an operation was decided upon. He was taken to Thrall Hospital last evening, and at 6 o'clock an operation was performed by Dr. Hardenburgh, assisted by Drs. Mills, Smiley and Howard Lowelson

The patient rested fairly well during the night and his condition this morning was regarded as favorable.

Proposed Increase in the Size of the Reservoir—A Big Pump in Place—Other Notes

From Our Regular Correspondent

—The pump for which the Water Commissioners have contracted with Chas. D. Pierce, of New York, will probably be in position by Saturday. The pump is capable of pumping 115,000 gallons per day, and a guarantee of 90,000 gallons will be given. If satisfactory the village will purchase the plant at $1,300. At a meeting of the Water Commissioners, Monday evening, $2,000 was authorized to be expended in increasing the storage capacity of the reservoir. Mr. Fred Knight, of Monroe, is making a survey of the premises to determine the advisability of raising the dam and purchasing more land on the southern end of the enclosure now owned by the village.

—Mrs. Margaret Crawford Jackson will give a series of seven parlor readings at her home on South street. The course will comprise her new book, "Those People." The price of tickets has been placed at $1 00 and the first reading will be given on the evening of Nov. 6th.

An Angry Wife and Her Rival Quarrel on the Street.

A letter written by a young woman of this city to a married man fell into the hands of his wife, who, last night, laid for the writer of the letter on Academy avenue, near Main street. The angry wife soundly berated the writer of the letter, who answered back as best she could. At last the wife started in to claw her rival, but the crowd that had gathered interfered and prevented a fight.

DIED IN THE DENTIST'S CHAIR.

William Hawkins Takes Chloroform to Have Teeth Extracted, With Fatal Results.

About 9 o'clock this morning, Mr. William Hawkins entered the office of Dr. A. W. Sweezy, on North street, and asked to have two of his front teeth extracted. He said he wanted to take chloroform to render him oblivious to the pain.

Dr. Sweezy tried to induce him to consent to the use of hypodontine, a local anæsthetic used by the doctor, but Mr. Hawkins insisted on having chloroform and asked that Dr. Emery be sent for to administer it.

Dr. Emery came in response to the call, and after making the usual examination proceeded to administer the drug.

Very soon after the effects of the chloroform became apparent, or in about five or six minutes, Mr. Hawkins ceased breathing. The physician noticed this at once and began to pump air into the lungs but without perceptible effect. He then gave a hypodermice injection of brandy and used other restoratives at hand but there still being no signs of life, Dr. Hardenburgh was called in and the two physicians worked over the body for half an hour, but it was a hopeless task for the spark of life had fled, Coroner Decker was notified and empaneled a jury who viewed the remains and adjourned until 7:30 o'clock this evening where an inquest will be held.

A pitiful scene occurred just after the physicians had ceased working over the body. Mrs. Comfort, the mother, and Mrs. Crist, a sister of Mr. Hawkins' wife, came to town, this morning, for a day's visit. Mrs. Hawkins told them her husband had gone to Dr. Sweezy's to have his teeth pulled and expressed her surprise that he stayed so long. The ladies were coming up town and said they would call at the doctor's office and see what detained him. They did so, and found his dead body stretched upon the floor. The shock was a terrible one.

Mr. Hawkins was about thirty-five years old. He was a native of the town of Hamptonburgh and was born near Burnside. He came to Middletown about four years ago and for two years was employed in the grocery store of J. T. Robertson, on East Main street. For the past two years he has worked in the saw shop.

He was married about fifteen years ago to Alice, daughter of the late James Comfort, of Montgomery, who, with one child, Wilmot aged ten years, survives him. They reside on Little avenue.

Look out for cold at this season. Keep yourself well and strong by taking Hood's Sarsaparilla, the great tonic and blood purifier.

GRACE CHURCH JUBILEE.

CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE ORGANIZATION OF THE PARISH.

Interesting Services at the Church This Morning—Addresses by Two Former Rectors, Rev. George D. Silliman and Rev. Pascal Harrower—History of the Church—"The Holy City," To-night.

The celebration of the semi-centennial of Grace Church commenced this morning, at 10 a. m., with a communion service, at which a large congregation was present. The Rev. G. D. Silliman was the celebrant, and assisting him were Rev. Pascal Harrower, Rev. Edgar Wright and Rev. David Evans. The service was fully choral, and was well rendered by the large choir, a special feature being an anthem specially composed by Mr. Harvey Lewis Wickham, choirmaster and organist of Grace Church, and beautifully sung by his sister, Miss Julia Wickham. The anthem was much admired. After the Nicene Creed, Rev. David Evans introduced the speakers in the following words:

"Beloved, we are assembled here this morning to render thanks to Almighty God for the special providence which as a parish we have enjoyed in fifty years of christian life and development. And our happiness on this auspicious occasion is enhanced with an added joy from the fact that we have here present with us two of the former rectors of this parish, whose names are enshrined imperishably in the loving memory of all who knew them, the Rev. Geo. D. Silliman and the Rev. Pascal Harrower, who will now speak to you such words as God has given them."

The Rev. G. D. Silliman took for his text the words in St. John, "Little children love one another," and pointed out how love was the very foundation of all true parish life. He called up numerous reminiscences of his own happy term of rectorship in Middletown, and made special allusion to Mr. Elisha P. Wheeler, the virtual founder of Grace Church, a man who did so much for the parish that the church was called "Mr. Wheeler's Church." Touching reference was made to the Rev. Alexander Capron, whose son, the Rev. Cyrus Capron, was invited to the present celebration, but could not come. Mr. Silliman also read a pleasant letter of congratulation from Rev. Philip W. Mosher, rector of St. Paul's, Muskegon.

Rev. Pascal Harrower followed Mr. Silliman in one of his characteristic addresses, which throbbed throughout with evident love, and was phrased in the happiest and most exquisite language. He had not known Middletown, he said, for so long a time as Mr. Silliman, but during the eighteen months of his life here, the spirit of the place, strong and aggressive, had taken possession of him body and soul, and he could never forget it.

Middletown was a place which never passed out of the life of any one who had lived in it. There were no two places alike exactly in the world, any more than two persons; each place and person had its own character, and he often wished that he lived in a place with the solidarity of life that Middletown has, rather than in a place like New Brighton, where men just came and slept, and departed when the ferry bell rang in the morning. So every church has its own special character, and that character must be determined by the parishioners rather than by any one or two commanding and conspicuous men.

After the celebration Mr. Silliman remembered at the altar the names of a number of the past benefactors of the parish, and the service closed with the recessional hymn, "Blest be the tie that binds."

HISTORY OF GRACE CHURCH.

Grace Church, which for over fifty years has been a power for good in Middletown, was organized Feb. 18, 1845, in a very humble way, by a few very staunch believers in the Protestant Episcopal Church, who, having located in Middletown, believed that there was room in the then growing village for a church of the faith in which they had been reared. The late Elisha P. Wheeler, of honored memory, who during all the years of his long and busy life was the generous supporter of and earnest worker for the Church, was the leader of the movement. It was at his invitation that in the summer of 1843, Rev.

REV. ALEXANDER CAPRON.

Horace Hills, of Walden, came here and held the first Episcopal service ever held in Middletown. During the remainder of that year and during the succeeding year occasional services were held here by Mr. Hills, Rev. William Page, of Goshen, and Rev. John Brown, D. D., for many years the deeply loved rector of St. George's Church, Newburgh. A spirit of Christian fellowship aminated the churches then in Middletown and the use of the Congregational Church was kindly granted the Episcopalians. They also worshipped occasionally in the Methodist Church, now the Old Ladies' Home on South street and later rented for their use Lyceum Hall, which stood on Main street and was burned fifty years ago.

ORGANIZATION AND INCORPORATION.

It was in Lyceum Hall that Grace Church was organized and incorporated. The vestry named in the articles of incorporation were: James Stryker and Elisha P. Wheeler, wardens; James G. Swezey, Edward M. Madden, John G. Wilkin, William N. Phillips, John Bailey, Anthony Houston, Charles Dill, P. M. Stryker, vestrymen.

REV GEORGE D SILLIMAN

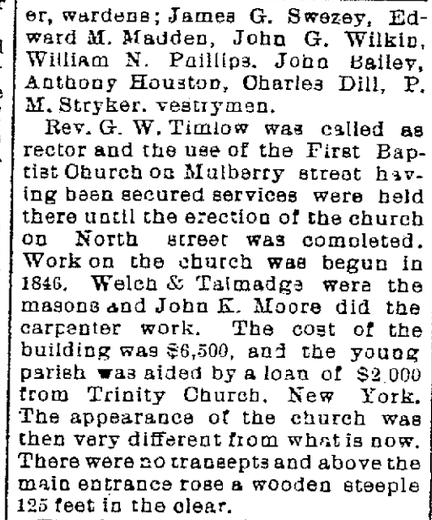
Rev. G. W. Timlow was called as rector and the use of the First Baptist Church on Mulberry street having been secured services were held there until the erection of the church on North street was completed. Work on the church was begun in 1846. Welch & Talmadge were the masons and John K. Moore did the carpenter work. The cost of the building was $6,500, and the young parish was aided by a loan of $2,000 from Trinity Church, New York. The appearance of the church was then very different from what is now. There were no transepts and above the main entrance rose a wooden steeple 125 feet in the clear.

The church was finished late in 1847 and the first service was held in the new building Christmas eve of that year. The young church seems to have been very dear to St. George's Church, of Newburgh, the oldest parish in this section of the State, for the hangings of crimson silk damask, with which the church was first furnished, were the gift of St. George's, as was also a communion set which St. George's had used for many years.

CONSECRATION OF GRACE CHURCH.

Grace Church was consecrated, Sept. 12th, 1848. Rev. W. H. De



REV. PASCAL HARROWER.

Lancey, Bishop of Western New York, officiated and a number of clergymen assisted in the services. The new parish moved slowly in the matter of church equipment, for its resources had been taxed to the utmost in erecting the church building, and it was not until early in 1850 that a small organ was purchased and placed in the choir loft over the chancel. The growth of the church, too, was slow, for although the congregation increased in numbers and the services were well attended, the classes confirmed were small and in January, 1855, the church had but twenty-five communicants on its rolls.

Mr. Timlow resigned as rector, on account of ill health, early in 1851. He was succeeded during the summer by Rev. J. Selden Spencer, whose first service was the funeral of Miss Mary B. Aldrich, in whose memory the communion set now in use in the church was given by her brother, Herman B. Aldrich, of New York.

Mr. Spencer resigned in the spring of 1855. The church was supplied for several months by Rev. Lloyd Johnson and on Dec. 5, Rev. Teller Babbitt, principal of Wallkill Academy, was called to the rectorate. Much to the regret of the people of the parish he was compelled on account of ill health to resign July 14, 1862. He was succeeded by Rev. Alexander Capron, who entered on his duties on the second Sunday in Advent 1862. Mr. Capron was rector of the church for fifteen years and resigned Oct. 1st, 1877. The church grew and prospered under his ministrations. His genial, kindly manner, his unaffected warm-heartedness, his broad Catholicity, his open-handed charity and the true Christian spirit that animated all his words and acts won for him not only the love of his own people, but of all the dwellers in Middletown and gave him an influence in the community such as few Middletown clergymen have ever enjoyed. Mr. Capron's usefulness was not confined to his own parish. He saw the opportunities for church extension in this section and it was he who first proposed the organization of the Western Convocation, from which sprang the Archdeaconry of Orange and he was dean of the convocation for nine years.

Rev. George D. Silliman succeeded Mr. Capron as rector. During his rectorate, which lasted five years, church and parish felt the vitalizing influence of his tireless zeal and noble enthusiasm in his Master's service. His activities were many sided. He made needed improvements to the interior and exterior of the church, assisting with his own hands in decorating the interior. He organized guilds and societies for the systematic prosecution of parish work. He was the friend of all in sickness or in trouble and he dealt out charity with a hand that drew on his private means when the parish purse was empty.

For over a year the church was supplied by Rev. H. A. Dows, Rev. Mr. Starkey and others. Rev. Pascal Harrower became rector on All Saints Day, 1884, and served acceptably and efficiently for two years when he resigned to become rector of the Church of the Ascension at West New Brighton, S. I., where he still remains.

Rev. William McGlathery succeeded Mr. Harrower, remaining until January, 1890, when he resigned. His finished and scholarly sermons are remembered with pleasure by many members of the congregation and it was through his efforts that the vested choir of men and boys

"TIME BRINGS ROSES."

When from my mountain top of years I gaze
Backward upon the scenes that I have passed
How pleasant is the view! And yet how vast
The deserts where I thirsted in my days!
There, where now hangs that blue and shimmering haze,
And there and there my lot with pain was cast,
Hopeless and dark, but always at the last
Deliverance came from unexpected ways.
And now all past grief is as but a dream.
Yet even now there loom before my path
Shadows whose gloomy portent checks my breath.
But shadows are not always what they seem.
God's love sometimes appears to be his wrath,
And his best gift is the white rose of death.

—John H. Boner in Century.

AN APOLOGY.

I was quite a little alarmed when I found myself in the room, but after my behavior on the previous evening it was absolutely necessary that I should see Miss Power. I began bluntly. "I have come," I said, "to offer an apology for —for what happened last night."

She opened her eyes and regarded me with an innocent stare, in which, however, some haughtiness mingled. "I do not understand," said she. "Did you trip on my dress? Well, at any rate, I hate apologies. Will you have some tea?"

"Thank you," said I, seating myself and putting my hat on the floor. "You see, when we came out of the hall and there was that rush, I had no idea"—

"Yes, it was an abominable crush," put in Miss Power hastily. "I wonder, Mr. Radcliff, if you would mind ringing the bell?"

"You remember," I explained, as I returned from the bell, "how just as we reached the door"—

"Oh, dear me!" cried Miss Power suddenly. "This teapot is such a silly thing! I hope nothing went over you."

"Not at all," I said politely.

She examined her dress carefully, and I waited in patience. "I think a tea stain is worse than a wine stain, don't you, Mr. Radcliff?" she went on. "And one can't put salt on it either."

"No," I assented cautiously. "But when we were being pressed so hard against the door and trying to get out, you were on my right, and the rush sent me"—

"You do take sugar, don't you?" interposed Miss Power abruptly. "How hot the weather is!"

"One lump, please," said I. "And then some one pushed me, and I suppose some one pushed you, and the next thing I knew was that our cheeks were"—

"Mr. Radcliff," interrupted Miss Power quickly, her cheeks flaming, "I think we had better forget silly things and go on with our tea." She spoke with some dignity and even with an air of rebuke.

"That's what I want to do," I explained eagerly. "But I have had it on my conscience to explain to you. You see, I couldn't help our cheeks touching." "Mr. Radcliff," said Miss Power, rising, "if you will not leave stupid accidents alone"— "No, no," said I quickly. "That is what I wanted to—I owe you an apology. You see, it wasn't that." "Wasn't what?" asked Miss Power after a pause, and as if she did not want to ask it. "It wasn't an accident," I murmured in a shamefaced way. I felt she was looking at me, and I felt, too, that her cheeks were crimson, and then she laughed an uneasy, discordant sort of laugh. "You can make yourself extremely ridiculous," she said suavely. "But please don't invent nonsense like that, and let us both forget a very unpleasant episode." "I suppose it was unpleasant," said I dubiously. "Highly," she said, with asperity, and turning away began to arrange some flowers in a vase.

"But you see," I began in a shuffling manner, "I can't rest—I mean I want you to say you forgive me." "I don't think," observed Miss Power tranquilly, "that there is anything to forgive, seeing that it was entirely accidental." I will confess that her persistence baffled me. I almost began to think it must have been an accident. Still, I persevered. It was my duty. "But it wasn't an accident," I cried dolefully. "Mr. Radcliff, you are intolerable," said she quickly. "You yourself have just explained that it was the crowd, and"— "Yes," I put in eagerly, "that was when our cheeks—when we"— "Yes, yes," she exclaimed impatiently. "But that was not all," I added. Miss Power elevated her eyebrows, but did not face me. "Really," she said indifferently, but I could have sworn that she was flurried. "You don't know what happened, then?" I asked meekly. "We came away, I suppose," said Miss Power, with the assumption of carelessness still upon her. "Yes," I said unwillingly, "after something else." "Upon my word, you are very tedious," said she. "I neither understand you nor wish to understand you." "I am sure she was agitated." "We were not aware," I asked, "that I—that I"— Miss Power made no remark, but was much occupied with her flowers. "that I—well—I thought you must have known." Still I got no help, and her back was toward me now. "I took advantage of the juxtaposition to"—I heaved a sigh and got it over—"kiss you!"

Miss Power turned round abruptly, and her eyes were full of honest anger. She surveyed me with great dignity, and then, in very cold tones, said, "You seem determined to use the cap and bells to-day." "Indeed," I said earnestly, "this time and"— "How dared you?" said Miss Power fiercely. Now, to say the truth, I did not think she would have made this fuss about it, because I imagined that she had known, and—well, she had been polite enough when I came in. But she was obviously very angry indeed, and this confounded me. I stammered more apologies. "I—you—the temptation!" I murmured. "Temptation!" she echoed, with scorn. "A man is a poor creature who cannot, who has no self restraint and must insult every girl he runs across, and"— "Oh, but it isn't every girl," I cried hastily. "It was only you. I wouldn't have taken advantage of any one else, and"— "That is a pretty compliment to me," she interrupted, with angry hauteur, "that I should be the one chosen for your insult!" I moved my hands helplessly in protest. "Oh, but —you don't understand!" I declared. "I understand you quite well enough," she said, looking at me with contempt. "The temptation!" I murmured again in confusion. She curled her nostrils. "I would not have done it in any other case, because there would not have been the same overpowering temptation," I said bravely. "I dare say not," she exclaimed, with a sneer. "You see," I went on breathlessly, "no one could look at you without wanting to"— "I think we have discussed this enough," said Miss Power curtly. "It was your eyes that first gave me the irresistible impulse," I continued humbly.

Miss Power snorted, very daintily, of course. "I have never seen eyes that color," I added earnestly. "Eyes are common enough," returned Miss Power severely as she turned away again. "No," said I firmly, "not that strange, sweet combination of hazel and brown, and"— "I don't think this is very interesting, Mr. Radcliff," said she coldly. "Then that peculiar shade of auburn I've never seen in any hair in the world," I cried eagerly. Miss Power shrugged her shoulders. "That is ridiculous," she said. "It's true," I declared. "Those wavering masses—I've often wondered and wondered how it looks when you take it down at night." "I don't think you have any right to do that," remarked Miss Power. "I can't help it," I explained. "And the shape of your face." "There are plenty of people with faces as—much the same as mine," said she, refingering the flowers. "Where are they?" I demanded. "I've knocked about the world a good deal, but I've never come across one within miles of it."

"You're rather extravagant, Mr. Radcliff," said Miss Power. "I often lie awake at night thinking of you," I continued. "I can call up every single detail of your face and expression. And —I know you will think me very foolish and—wrong, but sometimes I—well, I can't go to sleep without pretending to—to do what I did last night, you know." "How foolish you are!" said Miss Power, with a faint laugh. "That was the reason," I explained. "Why, when I found myself, not of my own doing, you know, but just found myself close to you, I couldn't have helped it for the world. I just—well, it seemed all so wonderful and beautiful, and my heart went thump, and I became quite unconscious of the crowd and I only one, and then I caught your eyes, and—well, I did it before I knew."

There was a pause, and then, "Oh, but you shouldn't let such things influence you like that," observed Miss Power in a softened voice.

"I am very sorry," said I humbly. "Did you mind very much?"

"Of course," she replied promptly and then hurriedly went on. "That is, I mean, when our cheeks"— She stopped in a rare confusion.

"But you didn't mind my kissing you, then?" I asked innocently.

"Certainly I did," said Miss Power quickly. "That is—I mean—no, I didn't know, you see."

"Of course you didn't," I answered, looking crestfallen.

"I should have minded very much if I had known," said she, as though anxious that there should be no mistake.

"I know you would," said I more lugubriously. "I am a brute."

"Oh, I wouldn't make too much of it, Mr. Radcliff," said she kindly, looking out of the window. "You have apologized, you know. And of course—well, I can understand from what you have said that you had—some excuse, you know."

"Do you forgive me?" I asked moodily.

"Oh, yes," said Miss Power cheerfully. "Of course, and I wouldn't think anything more about it if I were you."

"But I can't help thinking about it," I said desperately.

"But, Mr Radcliff"— she began and was silent.

"How can you ask me to forget all about it with the memory of that—with that memory?" I asked. I arose, and from where I stood I was conscious that Miss Power's cheek was tinged with color.

"You—you shouldn't have done it then," said she with a tremulous little laugh. I approached her, hat in hand. "I couldn't help it," I said with a sigh.

"Oh, but that's nonsense," said she very gently, regarding the traffic in the street.

"Whenever I am close to you I have the same temptation, I said, drawing near.

"But that's not nice of you," exclaimed Miss Power.

"All the time we have been in this room I have been struggling with a singular desire to do the same thing," I said, "and now, it seems to be quite mastering me."

"Oh, you mustn't give way," murmured Miss Power, but she did not move, and I was now very close to her.

"I can't help it," I explained. Apparently Miss Power could not help it either.—H. B. Marriott-Watson in New Budget.

Why Was It

that Ayer's Sarsaparilla, out of the great number of similar preparations manufactured throughout the world, was the only medicine of the kind admitted at the World's Fair, Chicago? And why was it that, in spite of the united efforts of the manufacturers of other preparations, the decision of the World's Fair Directory was not reversed?

BECAUSE

According to RULE 15—"Articles that are in any way dangerous or offensive, also patent medicines, nostrums, and empirical preparations, whose ingredients are concealed, will not be admitted to the Exposition," and, therefore—

Because Ayer's Sarsaparilla is not a patent medicine, not a nostrum, and not a secret preparation.

Because its proprietors had nothing to conceal when questioned as to the formula from which it is compounded.

Because it is all that it is claimed to be—a Compound Concentrate of Extract of Sarsaparilla, and in every sense worthy the indorsement of this most important committee, called together for passing upon the manufactured products of the entire world.

CASTORIA

for Infants and Children.

MOTHERS, Do You Know that Paregoric Bateman's Drops, Godfrey's Cordial, many so-called Soothing Syrups, and most remedies for children are composed of opium or morphine?

Do You Know that opium and morphine are stupefying narcotic poisons?

Do You Know that in most countries druggists are not permitted to sell narcotics without labeling them poisons?

Do You Know that you should not permit any medicine to be given your child unless you or your physician know of what it is composed?

Do You Know that Castoria is a purely vegetable preparation, and that a list of its ingredients is published with every bottle?

Do You Know that Castoria is the prescription of the famous Dr. Samuel Pitcher That it has been in use for nearly thirty years, and that more Castoria is now sold than of all other remedies for children combined?

Do You Know that the Patent Office Department of the United States, and of other countries, have issued exclusive right to Dr. Pitcher and his assigns to use the word "Castoria" and its formula, and that to imitate them is a state prison offense?

Do You Know that one of the reasons for granting this government protection was because Castoria had been proven to be absolutely harmless?

Do You Know that 35 average doses of Castoria are furnished for 35 cents, or one cent a dose?

Do You Know that when possessed of this perfect preparation, your children may be kept well, and that you may have unbroken rest?

Well, these things are worth knowing. They are facts.

THE PRESIDENT COMING TO MIDDLETOWN.

The Sick May Receive Medical Services Free of Charge.

The President and members of the European and American Staff of German, English, Irish, Scandinavian and American Doctors of New York city will be at the Russell House, Middletown, on one day only. The sick and afflicted may consult them without charge during their stay.

Tuesday, October 29th,

If you are incurable they will tell you; therefore invalids must not take offence if they are rejected, as no case will be accepted unless there is a moral certainty of a cure being effected. These Doctors are graduates of the best universities of Europe and America; they are of the highest standing in the medical profession and have had unlimited experience in the treatment of all Chronic Diseases and Deformities. As the latest methods, instruments and appliances of the various schools of both the Old and the New World are familiar to and at the command of this staff of doctors, it is reasonable to believe that in ninety cases out of every hundred a cure can be effected, even when the patients have been given up as incurable by doctors who have had less experience. Do not be discouraged because your doctor cannot give you relief, or even if he tells you that you cannot get well, for it matters not what your disease may be, you can consult the doctors free, and, if curable, they will treat you; if incurable, they will give you such advice as will tend to prolong life and afford you the greatest relief.

The doctor visits Middletown one day each month. Will be at 21 Broom street, Port Jervis, Wednesday, Oct. 30th. Office hours from 10:30 a. m. to 5 p. m.

SENTIMENT AND BLOOMERS.

Things all seem to be awry,
Babies for their mothers cry,
Lovers for their sweethearts sigh,
Angrily the fathers fret and fume,
Naught is as it used to be,
Ev'rywhere we changes see,
Woman wants to be more free,
All because the blooming bloomers bloom.

Many maidens out at night
Make a most unseemly sight,
Give the horses all a fright
As they quickly on the vision loom.
Out we wander bright and gay,
In the gladsome light of day,
But we turn our heads away
When we see those blooming bloomers bloom.

Out they stretch from side to side
Till it cannot be denied
They appear full four feet wide,
Yet are scanty, one must tearfully assume.
Sad indeed the beauty's fate,
Quick her reign must terminate,
Hearts she cannot subjugate
When men see those blooming bloomers bloom.

Cupid's fairly crowded out,
Pushed aside beyond a doubt,
At his wiles all lovers flout.
He himself must surely see his doom.
Sentiment is going fast,
Grace belongs to times long past,
How can love a minute last
When one sees the blooming bloomers bloom?
—Chicago Record.

At Dinner.

He—Doubtless you have often been proposed to.

She—Why! What makes you think that?

He—Moths will singe themselves in the flame.

She—Do you flatter yourself that that is original?

He—Oh, no. It's merely a quotation.

She—Somewhat trite.

He—Admitted. But, to start again at the beginning.

She—Where else would you start?

He—I have known girls to start at the end of a book. But, for a fresh start, did it ever occur to you what an excellent place a dinner table is for a proposal?

She—No. Why?

He—Because it's impossible for the fair one to fly. She must sit still and listen.

She—But the doctors prescribe light and amusing conversation at meals.

He—Isn't it possible for a declaration of love to fulfill the condition? I'm sure the bonds of modern matrimony are often airy enough.

She—After all, it depends upon the people, I suppose. Still, it must be difficult to play at making love with the soup, and Love himself must freeze if swallowed with the ice.

He—Suppose we try.

She—Oh, no, indeed, or I really must excuse myself.

He—And leave me stranded, like the last bit of cake on the dish.

She—Don't you flatter yourself in the sweet shape?

He—No. We can imagine that it is an unmoving fat, perhaps a trifle bitter.

She—And stale and hard.

He—No. Still soft enough to be molded into any form by beautiful fingers.

She—Mine would form it into a pellet.

He (eagerly)—So you could swallow it more easily?

She—No, indeed. So it could roll away and be lost more easily.—Life.

Marketable, Possibly.

Housekeeper—Want any old newspapers?

Junkman—No. Newspapers ain't made o' rags any more. Made o' wood pulp.

Housekeeper—Isn't wood pulp no use?

Junkman—Guess not, but dump 'em on. If they happen to be made o' maple wood, maybe I can sell 'em at a maple sirup factory.—New York Weekly.

No Ground For Complaint.

Customer—The butter you sold me tastes just like so much cheese.

Grocer—You will observe, madam, that I charged you only for the butter, though.—New York Sun.

ADDISON, N. Y., April 8, 1894.—Hand Medicine Co.:—"I feel it my duty to write you in regard to my little daughter's sickness from teething and indigestion. She is seven months old. NEW YORK'S NEW BYRNES.

Stephen O'Brien and His Great Record as a Thief Taker.

Stephen O'Brien, the new head of the New York city detective bureau, made famous by Thomas F. Byrnes, is perhaps a disappointment to the melodramatically inclined. There is nothing of the "Old Sleuth" or "Nick Carter" about him, nor does he flash upon you the piercing eagle eye which the romancers give to great detectives.

STEPHEN O'BRIEN.

He never falls into the vernacular of slang, nor does he believe in the policy of "sending a crook to catch a crook." He is not an adept at throwing bouquets at himself and does not employ a press agent. But he is a modest, conscientious, hardworking official, with ample qualifications and experience for his work. While he will never be an especially picturesque figure, and there will perhaps be little of romance enveloping the "central office," its incumbent will doubtless prove himself efficacious as a crime-catcher and efficient in the management of the metropolitan detective force.

Stephen O'Brien was born in New York and has always lived in New York, becoming thoroughly familiar with every phase of the darker side of life in the metropolis. He is about 42 years of age and can soon wear the four stripes on his sleeves, indicating 20 years' service in the New York police department. O'Brien early developed an aptitude for police and detective work. As a small boy he used to watch the men and women get out of the Black Maria and try to remember their faces. He studied the peculiarities of the three card monte men at Coney Island and could point them out to his young friends. He possesses a marvelously retentive memory, which is one of the secrets of his great success in identifying and capturing criminals. In his work as patrolman, roundsman, sergeant and detective sergeant O'Brien has made arrests on which the aggregate of sentences has been nearly a thousand years. His arrests have added to the rogues' gallery the portraits of 150 new criminals and resulted in the recovery of $150,000 worth of stolen property.

GRACE CHURCH JUBILEE.

was organized. During his rectorship, on Sunday, June 26th, 1867, Philip W. Mosher, a member of the church, who had resolved to consecrate his life to the ministry, was ordained as deacon.

Rev. Charles Scadding was the next rector. He held his first service Feb. 2nd, 1890. He was an active worker and formed several organizations to assist in church work. His rectorate ended June 1st, 1891

Rev. David J. Evans, the present rector, entered on his duties Sept. 27th, 1891. Since then he has done all for the church and parish that man could do. Thoroughly devoted to the work, inspired by a high sense of duty, zealous and enthusiastic, he has overcome difficulties that would have discouraged a less dauntless spirit. A debt of many thousand dollars which weighed on the church like an incubus and cramped and dwarfed its capacities, was, through his persistent appeals to the generosity of the members of the parish, and friends of the church, paid off a few years ago; needed alterations and improvements have been made to the interior of the church and a fine new organ has taken the place of the one worn out in God's service The church has prospered spiritually under his ministrations. There are now 380 communicants on its rolls, and at each confirmation service large classes have been presented. His brilliant pulpit efforts have attracted many not heretofore attendants on the church. The parish work is thoroughly and systematically organized and, best of all, an earnest purpose and complete unity of spirit inspire church and parish.

The Grace Church erected nearly fifty years ago was a very different structure from the beautiful edifice in which the jubilee celebration is being held to day. In 1863, the organ loft and gallery over the chancel were removed and the chancel extended several feet in the rear of the church. In 1866 the south transept was added by E P. Wheeler and 1867 he built the north transept, which soon after its completion caught fire from a defective furnace and the interior of the transept was destroyed before the flames were extinguished The beautiful spire, the most striking architectural feature of the church, was built in 1869 principally through the efforts of J. M. Matthews, E M. Madden and Charles Horton. In 1879 the base of the old steeple was removed, the stone work carried up and the gable surmounted by a beautiful cross. The restoration of the church's interior, completed last year, makes the church one of the most beautiful in our city. The Wakefield memorial window, unveiled a few months ago, is the most recent addition to the architectural beauties of the church.

The first marriage in the church was that of Joseph Crawford and Helen A. Conkling. The first infant baptism was that of Salina, daughter of the late Dr. J. D. and Deborah Johnson, now Mrs. George E. Brahams.

Mrs Lydia Sweezy, widow of the late James G. Sweezy, now living with her son, J K. Sweezy, on South street, is the only communicant of the church at the time of its organization who is now living

The history of Grace Church is closely interwoven with that of Middletown. Its growth has kept pace with the growth of the city It has filled a very large place in the religious and charitable life of this community. It has numbered among its communicants, officers and attendants, its full share of Middletown's leading citizens. It completes the first half-century of its existence, steadfast in the faith and strong in unity of purpose, better prepared than ever before to lead men in the ways of holiness and to fit them for the life eternal

HYMENEAL.

Barnett—Wolff

Under a beautiful bower of palms, evergreens, roses and chrysanthemums, in Vienna Hall, on Fifty-eight street, near Lexington avenue, New York, at 6.30 o'clock, last evening, Bertha, second daughter of ex-Alderman and Mrs. Charles Wolff, was married to Mr. Leo Barnett, of Amsterdam, N. Y., by Rev. Dr. Stephen S. Wise, Rabbi of the Madison Avenue Synagogue.

The ceremony was performed in accordance with the Jewish rites and rituals, and was beautiful and impressive.

When the hour set for the ceremony arrived the spacious hall was well filled with many friends of the bride and groom, who formed a double row on each side of the hall, through which the bridal party passed, marching to the inspiring strains of the wedding march from Lohengrin, played by Schwab's orchestra.

Leading the procession were the groom and groomsman, followed by the ushers, bridesmaids, the maid of honor, bearing the rings, the flower girls and pages, and finally the bride leaning upon the arm of her father.

The bride wore a heavy gown of white brocaded satin, with court train and trimmed with Duchesse lace and pearl passementerie. Her long veil was trimmed with orange blossoms, and was caught up at the side with diamond pins. A beautiful diamond pendant, the gift of the groom, adorned her neck She carried an ivory prayer book.

The bridesmaids were Miss Hattie Wolff, sister of the bride, Misses Millie and Sarah Barnett, of New York, sisters of the groom, and Miss Ruth Scharps, of Newburgh. Their gowns were of white and yellow brocade, trimmed with chiffon lace and cut decollette. They carried bouquets of yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Miss Francis Harlem, of New York, was the maid of honor. She wore a dress of white satin and yellow brocade, with jewel trimmings

The flower girls were Miss Lillie Samuels, of Port Jervis, a niece of the bride, and Miss Dora Marks, of New York, a niece of the groom. Their dresses were of white satin and mousellin de soie.

The pages were the little sons of Mr. C. Borck, of New York. They were attired in full dress suits, which were made in Paris for the occasion.

The ushers were Charles and Louis Wolff, brothers of the bride, Jacob Marks, Reuben Fischer and Harry Jacobs, of New York, Isaac Barnett, of Amsterdam, Ed. Scharps, of Newburgh, and Morris B. Wolf, of this city.

The groomsman was Mr. Aaron Levi, of Schenectady.

The beautiful Jewish marriage service was most impressively rendered by Rev. Dr. Wise.

Immediately after the ceremony the bride and groom received the congratulations of the assembled guests, after which they led the way to the supper room, the orchestra playing Mendelssohn's wedding march.

Covers were laid for 164 guests, and every seat was occupied.

Caterer C. Minzesheimer and a corps of waiters were kept busy for nearly two hours in attending to the wants of the guests. The following was the menu.

Blue Point Oysters.
SOUP
Vermicelli with Marrow Balls
FISH
Salmon with Mayonnaise Parisian Potatoes
ENTREES
Stuffed Philadelphia Squabs Asparagus,
Sweetbread a la Jardiniere
RELISHES.
Chicken Salad Table Celery,
Olives Pickles and Compotes
Roman Punch
ROAST
Philadelphia Spring Chicken and Duck, Salad
DESSERT
Mountain Cake, Tarts and Fancy Cakes,
Mottoes and Candies, Nesselrode Pudding
Fruits of the Season French Coffee

At the conclusion of the supper Mr. Jacob Marks arose and offered congratulations to the bride and groom, and called on Dr Wise for a few remarks The doctor responded in a most happy vein of humor He said that when he had asked why the ceremony had not been held in Middletown he was told that there was not a barn there large enough to hold the crowd. He welcomed all the strangers to the city and informed them that there was not as much danger from the one tiger in New York, as from all the "wolves" of Middletown.

Congratulatory speeches were also made by Messrs Jacob and Marcus Marks, of New York and Mr. L. H. Reynolds, of Amsterdam. The latter spoke in terms of highest praise of the character and business qualifications of the groom and congratulated the bride upon her choice of a husband, and also the husband on his choice of a wife.

After the speechmaking was concluded dancing was indulged in until midnight, when the bride and groom, having cleverly evaded their friends, left the hall unknown to all

It is understood that after a short southern trip they will return to Amsterdam, where they will reside in the beautiful home prepared by the groom

A complete list of the presents received by the bride would fill several columns of the ARGUS, and would include the name of almost every relative, friend or acquaintance of the bride and groom. There were costly articles of bric-a-brac; a complete outfit of solid table silverware, duplicated in many instances, articles for the household, both useful and ornamental, articles of jewelry and personal adornment; in fact, everything that could be wished for.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful 'sunburst," diamond pendant, in which forty-three gems of rare brilliancy were artistically set.

The father's gift to the bride was a check for a liberal amount. Mrs. Wolff's gift was a handsome parlor suit, Miss Hattie Wolff, parlor curtains, Charles and Louis Wolff, a Sohmer piano, Mrs. Aaron Samuels, sister of the bride, buffet, Mr. Samuels, dining room suit, Mr. and Mrs. Marks, the latter a sister of the groom, onyx and brass cabinet.

The bride's gifts to the maids and flower girls were scarf pins of pearls and emeralds.

The grooms gifts to the grooms man and ushers were scarf pins set with diamonds and pearls.

The costumes worn by the ladies present were magnificent and costly In our limited space it would be impossible to give a description of them all, or a list of those who were present.

Mrs. Charles Wolff, mother of the bride, wore a handsome gown of black satin, with white lace and jewel trimmings and diamond ornaments.

Mrs Samuels, sister of the bride, black brocade with pink chiffon waist, and diamonds

The many beautiful chrysanthemums, which were so tastefully arranged about the hall, were furnished by Mrs. George S. Belding, of this city.

Mrs. Barnett is one of Middletown's most highly esteemed young ladies and she takes with her to her new home the best wishes of hosts of friends for a long, happy and prosperous life.

Cast Off Clothing Wanted for the Poor

About a month ago, Faith Mission made a request for contributions of cast off clothing for distribution among the poor. A number of packages have since been received and distributed, but those in charge of the work find so many cases of need that they are unable to supply, that they again make an appeal to the public. Any articles of cast off clothing, either for adults or children, will be thankfully received and will be placed where they will do the most good.

AN OHIO WOMAN'S COMMON SENSE SAVED HER MONEY

A Way of Home Dyeing that is Simple, Easy and Economical—Diamond Dyes Make Good Colors and Do Not Fade, Crock, or Wash Out—How to Color Gowns, Suits, and Wraps With Little Expense.

In a letter written last month by Georgia Hook, Paintersville, Green Co, O, she says: "I colored an old tan dress last fall that I had worn all summer, and had a nice, black dress. My girl friends went nearly wild over it, and they were so astonished when I told them it was my old tan dress colored with Diamond Dyes. Several of them tried the dyes on their white cashmeres and all of them had nice looking black gowns."

"I have used a great many Diamond Dyes for cotton, wool, and silk, and have met with unvarying success. Last week I used a dozen packages for coloring cotton for rugs, and made two beautiful rugs I have tried other package dyes, but never with the success that I have had with the Diamond. I have never failed once with Diamond Dyes, and I do not think any one could, if they pay attention to the directions that come with each package."

Diamond Dyes are especially prepared for home use, and are guaranteed to be the strongest, fastest and easiest to use of all dyes. To get the best colors, it is necessary to use different dyes for wool and for cotton, and Diamond Dyes are especially prepared for each. Insist on having Diamond Dyes, and you will always have colors that will not fade.

A book of directions and forty samples of colored cloth will be mailed free. Wells, Richardson & Co, Burlington, Vt.

The French say "It is the impossible that happens." This has proved to be the case with the Mount Lebanon Shakers The whole scientific world has been laboring to cure dyspepsia, but every effort seemed to meet with defeat The suffering from stomach troubles has become almost universal. Multitudes have no desire for food and that which they do eat causes them pain and distress. Sleepless nights are the rule and not the exception, and thousands of sufferers have become discouraged.

The Shakers of Mount Lebanon recently came to the front with their new Digestive Cordial, which contains not only a food already digested, but is a digester of food.

It promptly relieves nearly all forms of indigestion. Ask your druggist for one of their books.
